

HALTER WILDLIFE THE SPORTSMAN

A REPORT TO MEMBERS ON CLUB EVENTS, ACTIVITIES AND THE ENJOYMENT OF UPLAND HUNTING

FALL 2019

THIS YEAR WILL BE HALTER'S 64TH HUNTING SEASON

COME ONE, COME ALL TO OPENING DAY 2019

This year's opening day celebration will be Sunday October 6th from 11am to 3pm. All members and their families are invited to help usher in the new hunting season. This event is at no cost to members. Bring the family and come enjoy GREAT FOOD and get to know your fellow members. Activities will include raffles for sporting clays cards, gift certificates for breakfast or lunch, merchandise, Al's homemade apple pies (grown right here in Al's orchard), and Halter honey from our very own beehives. And of course we will be raffling off a guide job with the one and only Al Benson! It's sure to be a great time so come join us if you can. The lodge renovation is complete, so come check it out! We have used it for several summer functions and it has worked out great. We will change gears and have furniture for the hunting season. We are anxious for all to see and enjoy the new addition and we are very excited to get this hunting season under way. Please RSVP 262-697-0070 as soon as possible.

SAFETY ALERT: BLUE-GREEN ALGAE CAN KILL YOUR DOG.

Blue-green algae looks like a "pea soup" scum that floats on the water... but it's actually bacteria. Not all blue-green algae blooms produce toxins, but there is no way to know for certain with the naked eye which ones are harmful. People can become very ill when the skin comes into contact with toxic blooms. The same is true for your dog, but it can be deadly if they lick or drink any of it. The toxins can cause symptoms in your dog in as little as 30-60 minutes after your dog is exposed to the toxins, but may take up to 12 to 24 hours to appear. It is critical to take your dog to the vet as soon as possible if any of the following symptoms appear:

- * Diarrhea
- * Vomiting
- * Blood in stool
- * Pale mucous membranes
- * Jaundice
- * Seizures, muscle tremors, muscle rigidity, or paralysis
- * Disorientation
- * Coma
- * Excessive salivation or tearing
- * Blue discoloration of the coat, skin, and mucous membranes
- * Difficulty breathing

If you suspect blue-green algae poisoning, rinse your dog with fresh water ASAP. If your dog licked or drank any water, get him to a vet immediately. You can also give him activated charcoal (UAA, Universal Antidote Gel, is available at veterinary suppliers and on Amazon. This comes in an easy-to-dose syringe that you can use right in your dog's mouth). If your vet cannot get you in immediately, go to the nearest emergency clinic.

If you see this blue-green algae "pea soup" scum...stay away! To the best of our knowledge we do not have any of this blue-green algae here at Halter. Al does not want to start wide spread panic, this is just a little information to keep you aware.

SAFETY

As we welcome the new hunting season with great anticipation and excitement, Al would like to reiterate that safety is of the utmost importance here at Halter. You MUST wear blaze orange on your head when hunting, no exceptions. Blaze orange is required to be showing on at least 50% of your outerwear. The more blaze orange, the better. We want this season to be our safest season yet. Thank you for your cooperation in this matter.
